DLA Piper has advised Sweden-based game development group Stillfront Group AB (publ) ("Stillfront") in its list move from Nasdaq First North Premier Growth Market to Nasdaq Stockholm Main Market, where Stillfront's shares will be traded in the large cap segment. Stillfront has been listed on Nasdaq First North Growth Market since 2015 and within the premier segment since 2017, and now levels up to the regulated market Nasdaq Stockholm. Since Stillfront's initial public offering in late 2015, in which DLA Piper also advised, Stillfront has grown from 50 co-workers and four game studios to more than 1,250 co-workers and 20 game studios all over the world.

The project has been led from DLA Piper's Swedish office by partners Anna Berntorp and Peder Grandinson. The team has consisted of a large number of co-workers, primarily associates Rebecca Fallberg, Lisa Brink and Therese Pekkanen. Several other DLA Piper offices, primarily in Canada, Germany, UAE and USA, have also worked on the project.
