Yesterday we hosted a breakfast seminar on the current foreign direct investment landscape in Sweden. The event was attended by leading Chinese companies actively operating in Sweden.

The seminar featured discussions focusing on existing laws and recent legislative proposals that allow scrutiny of foreign direct investments in Sweden. The primary goal of the seminar was to discuss how these measures may affect Chinese companies that are actively operating in Sweden and Chinese companies looking to establish in Sweden. The event also highlighted the services provided by DLA Piper to Chinese enterprises in Sweden.

The seminar was provided by Nicole Cai, Charlotte Brunlid and Marianne Ramel.

By bringing together some of the leading Chinese firms in Sweden, the event provided an interactive and informative platform for attendees. The seminar gave attendees the opportunity to gain a better understanding of the legal and commercial challenges that Chinese companies might face on the Swedish market. The event further emphasized the importance of being able to form new business relationships, while continually building on existing ones to guarantee long-term success.

DLA Piper China Desk in Sweden is on a regular basis advising Chinese companies and Chinese financial institutions in achieving their strategic and commercial plans in Sweden and on their overall investments in Sweden. This seminar represents DLA Piper's continued commitment to bringing the Chinese and Swedish business communities together and fostering productive relationships for mutual success.
